Warsaw, March 26.

THe Term for the sitting of the Dyet is again Prolonged for 15 days, in which time it's hoped the publick Affairs that are before them will be brought to a happy conclusion. Here is arrived a Turkish Chiaus, who demands a free passage, through the Polish Territories for 50000 Tartars, and endeavours with Threats and Promises to divert this Crown from entring into any Engagement with the Emperor, but both are very little regarded, and the Alliance which Count Wallestein, the Imperial Ambassador, is Treating here, will in few days be concluded. The Accusation that has been brought against Count Morstein, the Crown-Treasurer, will be Examined in the next Dyet, that the important Affairs that are debated in this may not receive any interruption, which they would do in a very great measure, should this Charge against him be now particularly enquired into.

Florence, March 28. The Great Duke's Galleys that carried the Marquiss de los Velez, late Vice-roy of Naples, to Marseilles, are come back. By a Vessel arrived from Port-Mahon we have advice, That three Galleys of the Squadron of the Duke of Tursis were gone for Sardinia, to carry thither the Count de Fuensalida, Viceroy of that Island, and that so soon as they have Landed him, they are to take their Course for Naples, to joyn four other Galleys of the same Squadron. From Thoulon we have an account, That the French are making great preparations there against the Algierines, and that they will have 18 Men of War at Sea, besides their Galleys, and other Vessels that are to attend the Fleet; and at the same time we are told, That the Spaniards will have this Summer, in the Mediterranean, a Fleet of 25 Men of War, and 15 Galleys, besides 10 Galleys of the State of Genoua, who are to joyn them. From Turin they write, That the two new Regiments of Dragoons, which the Duke of Savoy has raised, are compleat, and that they were to Muster as yesterday, and that that Duke is going to Fortifie Trino. The Letters from Milan say, That Monsieur de Louvigny, Maistre de Camp General of the Forces of that Dutchy, was gone in great haste, with several Ingeniers, to Tortona, to Fortifie that place.

Venice, April 3. The Letters we receive from Dalmatia give us an account, That the Bassa of Bossina is sending all the Troops and Provisions he can possibly draw together to Belgrade, where the Grand-Signior, as these Letters assure us, will be in Person the latter end of this Month; It's said he will not go into the Field with his Army, but that he will leave the Command thereof to the Grand-Vizier. From Rome they write, That the Pope has received an Answer from the Most Christian King, to the Letter he lately writ him, exhorting him to turn his Arms against the Turks, and to that end to compose the differences that do depend between him and the Princes his Neighbours; and that the Pope has likewise written to the Emperor and the King of Spain, pressing them to do their part for the establishing a firm Peace in Christendom; That the Count de Martenits, the Emperor's Minister, had made fresh Instances to the Pope in the Name of his Imperial Majesty, That he will give the Emperor such Assistances as may be proportionable to the exigency of the Conjuncture, and that a Congregation of Cardinals had been thereupon held the 26th past, to consider of the means to raise a more considerable Supply than what has been as yet sent his Imperial Majesty, but we do not hear what was resolved on.

Genoua, April 6. This Week arrived here the Unity, from Majorca, and the Tunisene from Tunis and Legborne. The four new Galleys which this State have resolved to joyn to the six they have already at Sea, are fitting out with great diligence, and will in a very short time be ready to Sail. The Senate are sending some Companies of Soldiers to Savona, to reinforce the Garison that is there, which makes People believe the Senate have some Apprehensions that that place may be Attacked. From Naples they write, That the Marquiss del Carpio, their new Viceroy, has done several things, since his being in that Government, which have given great satisfaction to the People.

Vienna, April 4. The Train of Artillery, which has been prepared here, will March the next week for Hungary, and the Imperial Troops are on all sides in motion; The place of their General Rendezvous is not yet declared, and will not be till the arrival of the Duke of Lorrain, when a great Council of War will be held here. From Hungary we have advice, That Count Teckeley is returned from Kersmarck to Caschaw, being somewhat concerned at the Demand which the Bassa of Buda had made to have one of the Gates of Caschaw put into the Hands of the Janizaries, which he would send thither for that purpose, and to have the Baron Kobary late Governor of Fillecke, delivered to the Turks, whose Prisoner he pretends he is, and that Count Teckeley had sent an Officer to Buda, to endeavour to discover what is at the bottom of this Demand. Count Rabata, whom the Emperor sent to visit the Places in Croatia, is come back, and has made his report. The Margrave of Baden, President of the Council of War, has been at Raab and Comorra,
